DEATH OF COL. DONAN

Pneumonia Carried Away the Brilliant Newspaper Writer-Officer in Confederate Army.

Further information concerning the death of Colonel "Pat" Donan at Portland, Ore., has been received in this Frank Goodwin, city. The sad event occurred last Sun. Thatcher, Benson. city. The sad event occurred last Sunday morning at his residence, 449 West Park street, in that city, and was due to pneumonia. Last fall Colonel Donan Not Much Progress Being Made had a severe attack of la grippe and never having fully recovered from its effects, he fell a ready prey to the disease which terminated his career. Colonel Donan was born at Natchez, Miss., April 9, 1839, and was therefore a little more than 63 years of age. In November, 1897, he married Miss Eleanor S. Brown at Pocatello, Ida. His widow survives him. Colonel Donan's real name was Peter Donan, though "Pat." He was the son of a Presby-terian clergyman, was of Scotch ex-traction and proud of his ancestry.

In speaking of the death of Colonel

Donan, the Portland Journal says: "Colonel Donan was a man of scholarly attainments. While still a child, he became an excellent Hebrew, Greek and Latin scholar.

"Being of southern birth, it was nat-ural that Colonel Donan, with his im-petuous disposition, should have been among the first to throw his heart and soul into the cause of the confederacy. From the hands of Jefferson Davis he received his commission. He was badly wounded in one engagement.

"The Donan family is one of the best known in the south, and Colonel Don-an's name is very familiar in every southern state. He has had three for-tunes, and, had he lived, would prob-ably have founded another, because he expected soon to have entered upon a position which would have profited him handsomely. He visited Europe, Asia, Africa and India. His love of adven-ture led him into more than one South American insurrection, through all of known in the south, and Colonel Don-American insurrection, through all of which his charmed life bore him. "Colonel Donan was of slender build, but erect as an Indian. He was always a picturesque figure. His dark soft hat was always worn with true military bearing. He was above six feet in height, and a very handsome man." The funeral of Colonel Donan was under the direction of his last associites, the officials of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company.

The county commissioners held their regular monthly meeting yesterday. Mr. George Pugsley, deputy state fish and game commissioner, appeared before the board and secured its permission to closs Smithfield creek for two years, beginning with June 29 of this year.

STILL FIGHTING HOPPERS.

Against Their Ravages. Manti, June 4.—A goodly number of the inhabitants of Manti took their departure for the fields yesterday to fight the hoppers, and it is believed that a good work was accomplished. Many bushels of the hoppers were killed, but after the day's work was completed, it was a hard matter to tell that anything was accomplished, as the pests are so very numerous. The good work of yesterday will, no doubt, be continued and much good will result from the efforts of those who take an interest in the welfare of our future.

PROVO NEWS NOTES.

Secretary Graham of the civil service examining committee has been instructed from Washington to postpone the examination for carriers to the 18th and to receive applications till 9 o'clock a. m. of that date.

"The Jolly Musketeer" drew an immense house this evening, many people being unable to gain admittance. Miss Lulu Gates was most enthusiastically received by her townspeople. Miss Luella Ferrin, whose former appearance here with the Salt Lake Opera company made her a favorite, also came in for a large share of the honors. The people of Provo feel to congratulate themselves on having the opportunity to witness this brilliant performance by home talent, and will be more critical hereafter in their judgment of foreign companies.

A declamation contest was given in the Procter academy this evening, in which the following students contested: Emma Woodhead, Walter Bonham, Erwin Wood, Dore Schwab and Zula Houtz. Musical selections were furnished by the Mandoin club and Misses Jayne and Sayre.

A Provo Pamphlet.

Provo, June 4.—at the meeting of the Business Men's association, held last evening, it was decided to publish for distribution a pamphlet descriptive of Provo and surrounding country, setting forth its many advantages for manufacturing, business and residence purposes.

R. B. Thurman reported having received a letter from an eastern company, intending to creet powder works somewhere in the west, asking for information in regard to facilities in Provo for such an enterprise. The matter was referred to Secretary Bagley, who will correspond with the company.
